Please read the following information carefully before completing and submitting this application.

Category: Engineering and Technical Management (ETM) Professional of the Year Award

Background: The 2026 AAE's Excellence Award for the ETM Professional of the Year recognizes the individual whose outstanding contributions, innovative thinking, willingness to take calculated risks, and achievements merit special recognition. It also provides an opportunity to showcase professionalism of the Army Acquisition Workforce with respect to the ETM Functional Area (FA) core competencies.

Eligibility:

1. Nominee contributions must have been made between 1 June 2025 – 31 May 2026.
2. Any ETM member across the Army Acquisition Workforce is eligible as long as he or she:
 - a. Meets the specific criteria of the award for which they are nominated.
 - b. Occupies an acquisition workforce designated position.
 - c. Is current, or within the grace period, in Defense Acquisition Workforce Improvement Act (DAWIA) acquisition functional area certification and achieved the required 80 continuous learning points during the prior two-year continuous learning cycle (1 Oct 2022 - 30 Sep 2024).

Evaluation Criteria:

Nominees must have made a significant contribution during the eligibility period to be considered for this award. This award recognizes the past performance of an individual who has clearly demonstrated exceptional mission accomplishment, selfless service to the United States, a willingness to champion new ideas and calculated risks, and extraordinary and uncompromising professionalism in one or more ETM core competencies.

Nominations will be considered based on demonstrated excellence and contribution to acquisition mission success in the following areas:

1. Specific achievements within the functional area during the eligibility period. Given that many achievements result from one's efforts and contributions cumulatively over a period of time, achievements that take place over more than the 12-month window may be reported, but the culmination of the work must be within the window. Quantifiable descriptions of achievements are particularly desired. What impact did their action have on the mission? Did the nominee implement a novel solution or take a calculated risk that resulted in a tangible benefit to the workforce?
2. Value of the nominee's contributions during the award period to the mission of one's organization in supporting one or more of the ETM competencies:

- a. Leading Change
 - b. Mission & Systems Thinking
 - c. Requirements Definition & Analysis
 - d. Technical Management
 - e. Design Considerations
 - f. Product Realization
 - g. Digital Literacy
 - h. Software Literacy
 - i. Technical Perspective on Defense Contracting
3. Demonstration of professionalism including, by example, mentoring and sharing best practices to enhance the success of one's team, as well as fostering an environment where innovation and smart risk-taking are encouraged to achieve acquisition outcome success.
4. ETM specific criteria:
 - a. The ETM Professional of the Year candidate(s) should represent the best of the ETM acquisition community members who have contributed to the advancement of ETM initiatives through innovative solutions and calculated risk-taking.
 - b. Examples of candidates for this recognition may include individuals who have accomplished the following (please note that this list is not inclusive):
 - Received national or international recognition for excellence by a professional society (named fellow, society award, best paper, etc.).
 - Led a major ETM thrust related to a major project or program milestone.
 - Demonstrated excellence in supporting a program or project's ETM effort.

Monetary Award:

Subject to Office of the Secretary of War (OSW) Acquisition and Support guidance, winners may be eligible for a $3,000 monetary award. Monetary awards are normally funded with mission funding or available Defense Acquisition Workforce Development Account (DAWDA) funding. Per the OSW Personnel and Readiness memo, "Department of War Awards Spending Guidance for Non-Senior Executive Service and Senior Professional Employees", dated April 8, 2026, awards should be allocated in a manner that provides for "meaningful distinctions in performance." Organizations must coordinate with their budget and human resources offices to ensure compliance with funding and the respective awards guidance.
